New excellent sharpness Diamond Knife

“刀-Katana” now on sale !

“Once you use this , you won’t be able to use anything else” From users !

The diamond knife, which is now on the market by popular demand, is newly released as "Katana" with double the blade length and an illumination function. It is an indispensable tool for the preparation of microscopic samples. It has a diamond blade with excellent sharpness, but it is a knock-off so you can safely carry it anywhere in your breast pocket or other pocket. The doubled cutting edge length can handle thicker specimens than the previous model, and the added illumination function is effective for working in the dark and for fine cutting under a microscope. There are two types of blade tips: a sharp 45-degree type and a flat type. The price is reasonable when purchased as a set.

Two types: flat and angled

Outstanding sharpness

Works in the dark, too!

Knock-type lights can be switched on and off according to use.

Put it in your pocket!
